Of Arizona For the Benefit of Eastern Readers.

The Williams News has the following points regarding Arizona which should appeal to the easterner:
The climate of Arizona ranges from almost torrid to almost frigid.
The elevation of the territory ranges from below sea level to 13,000 above sea level.

Her forests of pine are the greatest in the world today, and she will have lumber to sell the world for ages to come.
Her minerals have not even as yet been prospected for, and yet the greatness and richness of her copper and gold mines astonish the world.

Her school laws are exceedingly liberal from a financial standpoint, as the territory bears all of the school incidental expenses, and will furnish even the books without charge if requested.

Her women are the prettiest, most practical, yet most cultured of any in the universe. They love hard and hate intensely; they are queens of all they survey, for they are now in the minority and there are plenty of chivalrous men to love them.

Arizona contains the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river, the most magnificent work of nature found in the world. No tongue or pen can describe it, and is only hinted at by the gifted pen which terms it "an inferno bathed in soft celestial fires."

Arizona has more handsome, intelligent, finely educated and well-off financially—bachelors than any land under the shining heavens. If a girl can stand master and pass their criticisms unscathed she can live in clover and revel in silks and jewels the balance of her days.

The outside work is all done on the new school additions, and now the carpenters and painters are working on the interior. It will soon be completed and ready for use.

"Our baby was sick for a month with severe cough and catarrhal fever. Although we tried many remedies she kept getting worse until we used One Minute Cough Cure—it relieved at once and cured her in a few days."—B. J. Nance, Prin. High School, Bluffdale, Texas. Copper Queen store.

is very real. That which you think awaits you in the dentist's chair is all imaginary.

People forget that old-time dentists with their barbarous instruments no longer exist. Modern dentistry, as practiced by us, is a painless, scientific method of tooth preservation.
Let us attend to your teeth as soon as there is the slightest symptom of anything wrong, and you'll always have good teeth.

The benefit given at the Opera House last evening was a success both financially and otherwise. The house was well filled with interested spectators to listen to the musical and instrumental solos. The first number on the program, the overture by the orchestra, was well rendered and received merited applause. A vocal solo by Mrs. John Bowen was next rendered and was most favorably received by the audience. The duet by Mrs. Von Kanel and Miss Walsh was extremely pleasing and was heartily enjoyed. The piano and violin solo by Masters John Hankins and Leslie Case was the feature of the evening, the young musicians displaying talent of no mean ability. The double clog that was to have been danced by Messrs. Harrington and Allison was not given owing to the accident that happened to Mr. Allison in the morning. Miss Maud Walsh in her usual charming way rendered the vocal solo "For all Eternity," which was well received.
